A typical example of the kind of steers you can produce if you use Shorthorn bulls. These Shorthorn crossbreds are part of 400 that were sold last fall by the Hawkins Cattle Co. in California. They averaged 680 pounds when weaned at 10 months of age and sold for $163.20 per head.

Why Buy a Shorthorn Bull?

Best for Crossing . . . .

Crossbreeding tests at the Louisiana State University show that Shorthorn crosses with both Angus and Herefords were superior to the Angus-Hereford cross in weaning weight, slaughter calf grade, rate of gain, weight-per-day of age and carcass grade.

Produce More Lean Cuts . . . .

The large Indianapolis Carcass Contest, proved, in comparison of lightweight entries, that Shorthorns produced a higher dressed weight, more pounds of lean cuts and a carcass of greater value. The average Shorthorn carcass was worth $30.68 per cwt. as compared to $29.93 for Angus and $29.91 for Herefords. A 210-head study by the Quebec Department of Agriculture also proved that Shorthorns mature earlier and produce a higher carcass grade.

Superior Gaining Ability . . . .

Shorthorns scored the highest average gains at the large Front Royal, Virginia, interbreed performance tests for eight straight years. In the largest testing program in the nation, the Kentucky Performance Test, Shorthorns outscored other participating breeds in every category.

LOUADA FEARLESS . . . At right we see Louada Fearless, a bull that has worked great improvement in Wisconsin in recent years. Note the bone, depth, bulging quarters, thickness and straightness of lines. Shorthorn sires like this one produce more profit for the commercial cattle-man.

More Valuable Calf Crops . . . .

A summary of 30 feeder sales in Virginia in 1960, involving 34,517 head of all breeds, revealed that Shorthorns, which have their own sale at Winchester, outweighed, outsold and outgrossed their competitors. The Shorthorn average weight was 495 lbs. as compared to 456 for all sales. Shorthorns sold for a $25.37 per cwt. average as compared to $25.19 for all sales and they grossed $125.51 a head as against $114.84 for other breeds . . . a Shorthorn advantage of $10.67 on every calf.

Less Health Problems . . . .

A study conducted by Dr. M. E. Ensminger, Washington State University, and presented at the 1960 Shorthorn Progress Conference, revealed that breeders, college men and meat industry experts rated Shorthorns the highest for milking ability, freedom from dwarfism, immunity to disease.

Growing Feeder Demand . . . .

At sale after sale last fall, the demand for Shorthorn feeder calves and Shorthorn crossbreds was greater than existing supplies. For example, 250 buyers from six states were on hand to bid on a 1,000-head supply at the Kansas Shorthorn Feeder Sale last fall. Many orders went unfilled at this and other sales. Other feedlot operators have indicated a willingness to pay a premium price to get those faster gaining, earlier maturing Shorthorn calves. Get on the bandwagon . . . start using Shorthorn bulls.

Each year more and more Shorthorn breeders buy their female replacements in Wisconsin. Heifers like these Hickories productions indicate why . . . buyers get top quality in a profit-making package.
